

Ashmole's Weekly Roundup!

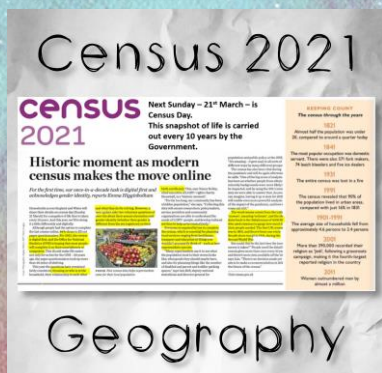

Friday 19th March 2021

Testing Heroes! Our incredible staff testers have conducted over 5000 LFTs on all of our students since the 4th March – we are so incredibly grateful and proud of them! Thank you to everyone who has supported in this mammoth task, we are all proud to work with you

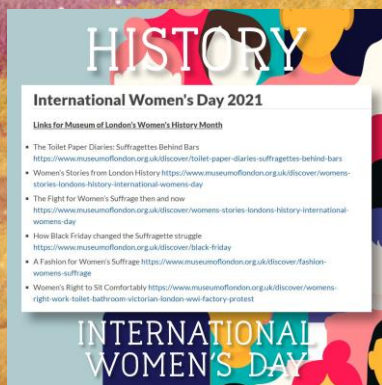

Compose a rainbow! The Music Department is delighted to announce the launch of our 'Compose a Rainbow!' project for Music Scholars and G&T Musicians. The rainbow has long been a symbol of hope and joy, and we have invited our talented young musicians to get creative and compose a piece of music which uses the rainbow as an inspiration. We hope the project will inspire our young musicians' imaginations and we cannot wait to hear the music they create! See more here: Compose a Rainbow

Census 2021

This Sunday, March 21st, is Census Day!

This is such an important date, especially for planners! It is a snapshot of life, carried out by our Government. Mrs Sullivan (Teacher of Geography) has made a lesson starter which has been taught to all geography students across the school, so that they can discuss and reflect on the Census, and the impact it can have! Make sure you fill out your Census (for the first time, it's completely online!) this Sunday!

International Women's Month

To celebrate women's history month, Miss Cork and the History department, have put together some slides for teachers to use in their History lessons over the next few weeks! Some example slides can be seen above. Year 7 will look at Native American women, year 8 will look at women on plantations, year 9 will look at female spies, year 10 will look at Eleanor of Aquitaine and year 11 will look at female resistance in Nazi Germany. Furthermore, our Humanities HTLA, Miss Gallogly-Clements has also put together a dedicated Firefly page to promote this important month. Miss Cork has ensured that Sixth Form Historians are also able to read around IWD on Firefly to enhance their A Level understanding!
