YEAR 13 GEOGRAPHY

In their lessons this week, Year 13 Geographers continued with their 'Water' topic and reviewed content for the first enquiry question of their 'Superpower Geographies' unit. In the latter, they examined and evaluated the role and influence of various emerging countries and organisations such as the BRICS and the G20. A major focus was looking at how 6 new countries will join the BRICS alliance in January 2024 and how this will affect both relations within the group and the 'New World Order'. It is so important that our students keep up to date with what is going on in the world so that their knowledge and understanding goes beyond the specification. A great start to Year 13 Geographers- we look forward to supporting you this year. - Mrs Sullivan, Ms Vaughan and Miss Harrison.
